If you're thinking of buying into the elusive condo development at One Hanson Place, aka the Williamsburgh Savings Bank, taste the views that await you via photos snapped at yesterday's open house tour of the tower. Reports NewYorkology, "The floor open for the tours [the 19th] will be private space belong to an individual (or possibly two) condo owners. However a representative from One Hanson Place said the 20th, 24th and 26th floors will have outdoor communal space open to the buildings' residents. There will be no outdoor space open to the public."
